News of the attempted wholesale swindle spread around town rapidly, and other vicitims soon appeared. Rice & Arnold had been visited; shoes to the value of $10 bought and a $15 check on the Citizen's Bank signed by "W. F. Thompson" tendered in payment. They asked for and received $5 in cash, after paying for their shoes.

their car on their return home, and get it as they passed.

The four were lodged in jail immediately they were taken into custody. Police Judge Murray Smith drew seven warants for the complaining witnesses and held a special term of his court last night at 8 o'clock, to give them an examining trial. Without making the slightest defense, the two men and women pled guilty. When Judge Smith asked them why they had started out on such an expedition one of the women replied:

"It must have been for want of sense."

One of the boldest swindling operations that has been attempted in Richmond in a long time came within an ace of succeeding Tuesday afternoon, when two couples drove over here from Lexington, bought about $300 worth of goods from half a dozen stores, gave spurious checks for them on two local banks and were arrested.

Arranged for examining trial in Police Court last night, they gave the names of Floyd McCall, Hattie Hatton, Coy Hatton and Alice McCall. They made no effort to evade the charges against them but pled guilty and were held to the grand jury this morning under $500 bond. Appearing as witnesses against them in seven warrants which were sworn to before Judge Smith, were Harold Oldham, of W. D. Oldham & Sons, R. J. McKee, Z. T. Rice, of Rice & Arnold, E. V. Elder. They also gave spurious checks to George W. Pickels for a saddle, which they had not taken out, and to T. G. Moberly for harness goods.

But for the supicious of Miss Elizabeth Adams, saleslady for W. D. Oldham & Co., and the prompt action

New York, May — in immediate reduction in the price of wheat, reaching all the way down the line from the produce is the barrier believed to be assured, according to a statement of Wheat Director Barnes, after a conference with representatives of the grain industry. Barnes indicated that wheat may be sold on a demand and supply basis with the government making up any deficit to the producer. Richmond lost one of its most estimable women late Tuesday, when Mrs. Amada T. Million, departed this life to enter the better land over there. Mrs. Million had been in a critical condition for several weeks, and every medical attention was given to alleviate her suffering and prolong a life that had always been a useful one. one.

Washington, May 14—Senator Cummins, favored by the Progressive group, was unanimously chosen president pro tem of the Senate at the organization conference of republican Senators today. Senator Lodge was re-elected party leader and discussion of the controversy over committee chairmenships for Senators Penrose and Warren was postponed. She held a similar position with State University recently, and everywhere she went she made friends by the score. At one time she was elected Superintendent of Schools of Madison county, receiving a very large per cent of the votes cast.

Besides rearing a family of splendid boys and one daughter, she took an active part in church wor', be not a life long member of the Christian church.
